

Experience report

-public-

I am Alisar Khon, 23 years old, and am currently studying business administration at the University of Greifswald.

How did you find us?

Your company has an excellent reputation in Greifswald, and my curiosity was especially aroused by the eye-catching blue logistics centre. Every time I passed that striking building, I wondered which major company was behind it. The mysterious aura finally induced me to investigate for myself, until I came across something that interested me and applied for a work placement at mlands!

What area did you start in and what were your first tasks?

I started my professional journey at mlands as an apprentice in the purchasing department, where my colleagues gave me a warm welcome and introduced me to my tasks. They were extremely nice, friendly and helpful. At the beginning, I was familiarised with small tasks to help me understand the system. I have especially been going into detail with the topics of material compliance management and supplier management. My colleagues have helped me to master the challenges of these topics.

What are you currently doing with us?

I am currently continuing my work as a student trainee in material compliance management, because I am still very interested in that topic. My development in this area has been positive and I aim to continue working on projects in this area in the future.

How did we convince you of us?

I was convinced by the positive working atmosphere, the friendly colleagues, and the excellent entry opportunities for students. I don't feel left alone at all – I'm being actively introduced to new systems and am able to gain valuable professional experience. The company isn't just offering a place to work. It's also creating an extremely pleasant atmosphere. Away from work, there are amenities such as a canteen in the immediate vicinity and regular medical examinations for employees, such as eye examinations. The company takes great care of its employees and promotes close ties, even between departments.